TIE Titanium Metals Corp (NYSE)

1180% in Profit in 19 Months

I found TIE in early 2004 doing a 52 week high search after it had moved into a consolidation near previous base highs from 1999 to 2001. A Market Watch Alert was issued in March 2004. The Trigger Alert buy price was based on several attempts to break out at prices that failed between $3.00 and $3.50; however, resistance pointed to an entry price of $3.20 which was reached in October 2004. The Take Off Alert of $4.00 was reached in February 2005. This is one of those few rises that held very little surprises or anxiety from pull backs as it pretty much went straight up. April and May of 2006 saw near 100% rise from higher levels and we used our 50% rule for quick rises and got stopped out at our Sell Alert price of $40.95 in May 2006.
